MONDAY MORNING, MAY 16, 1864.

The Great Victory.

We have cheering and glorious news this morning. Gen. Grant and his brave army of patriots have not faltered but pressing on with vigor, have achieved a splendid triumph, as will be seen by a perusal of our telegraphic dispatch. The army seems to be inspired with determined hope, which can hardly fail to lead it from conquering, on to final conquest. Each day shows progress on our side—each day brings disaster and discouragement to the enemy. Under these circumstances, loyal men have a right to expect with confidence the total rout of Lee's army, followed before long by the capture of Richmond. Butler's position shuts off all chance of furnishing re-inforcements from the South, to aid in the defence of the doomed city, and it must be crushed between the upper and the nether mill-stones of the Federal army. We congratulate our readers on the bright prospects, and trust that we shall have no occasion to announce any reverse until the Stars and Stripes float again over the old capital of Virginia—too long desecrated by rebel control and tyranny.

General Officers to be Dropped.—The action of the House of Representatives upon the joint resolution mentioned in our dispatch this morning, will be gratifying to the country, which has been much displeased at the long continued inactivity of so many of the highest officers of the Army, even while they are receiving large salaries. It is, however, to be remembered that in all cases, it is not the fault of the officer that he is not in active service. There are several who have repeatedly applied for orders, which have not been issued, and there is, it must be confessed, a seeming hardship in dropping an ambitious man, who is ready and willing to do his duty, while the Government has no position to which he can be assigned. The proposed action is right, however, for the country cannot afford in these times to pay men for doing nothing, and it is likely that every competent officer will be put where he can be useful; the others ought to have been dismissed long ago, without waiting Congressional action. If they were not fit for duty, they were not worthy of the compensation and rank which have been allowed to them.

According to the report of the Secretary of War, there are fourteen Major, and eleven Brigadier Generals, now without command and unemployed. Besides these, there are thirty-nine Generals on duty not connected with field service. Many of these officers still retain the whole or a part of their personal staff, to which they are entitled, and it is not surprising that Congress has at last deemed it a duty, imposed by public necessity and economy, to endeavor to correct the evil, and remove the cause of so much useless and extravagant expense.

From Boise.—Persons from the North by Monday night's stage, report that everybody is leaving the Boise country that can get away. The mines are a grand [illegible] provisions are enormous, and a vast amount of [illegible] prevails. People are leaving like rats from a drowning ship, even when the proper season is at hand. We may look soon for a return of the immense tide of migration to that country.—Yreka Journal.

What a story! There is not a word of truth in it. The "persons from the North" were lying most outrageously, or were retailing reports that everybody made up for the sake of hindering the rush to Boise. No miners have yet returned, and though there is no doubt that many will be disappointed, yet we are assured by those who have come down this spring to purchase supplies, that all who want work, will obtain it at good wages. We are sorry that our Yreka friends are losing their neighbors and hope those who have gone, will return with full pockets; but if they should be unlucky, it will be time enough to say so, when the fact actually occurs. Till then, false reports will not stop a single miner, who wants to see Boise for himself.

Yamhill County Union Convention.—The Convention was held on the 11th inst., at Lafayette and the following persons were nominated as candidates: Joel Palmer, State Senator; Henry Warren, George W. Lawson, Representatives; S. C. Adams, County Clerk; L. L. Whitcomb, Sheriff; G. W. Watts, County Treasurer; S. Brucher, H. Hewitt, County Commissioners; Hanley, Assessor; J. Spencer, School Superintendent; W. W. Brown, Coroner; A. S. Watt, Surveyor.

We learn that everything passed off harmoniously, and everybody was satisfied.

Gov. Brown, of Georgia, in his message to the Legislature denounces the policy of Jeff. Davis' administration very severely. He recommends that the door of negotiation be left open between the South and the North. But this amounts to nothing, as he is unwilling to accept any terms the North is likely to offer.

The Ages of the President's Cabinet.—Mr. Lincoln is 54 years old; Mr. Seward, Secretary of State, 63; Mr. Chase, of the Treasury, 55; Mr. Welles, of the Navy, 65; Mr. Bates, Attorney General, 73; Mr. Blair, Postmaster General, 51.

Additional Eastern News.

Cairo, May 6.—Discoveries have been made in this city which confirm a statement published some time since of negotiations between certain parties North and the rebel General Kirby Smith, whereby the latter was to secure to the former the benefits of confiscation west of the Mississippi river, and to receive, in return, goods and ammunition. Several prominent business men of this city were urgently solicited by parties of wealth and influence, East, to join in the enterprise, Smith to act as agent. They declined, but the project has since been successfully carried out to some extent. S. S. Casey, of Caseyville (Ky.), in connection with William Butler, of Springfield (Ills.), late State Treasurer, are named as prominent agents in accomplishing the project, the Treasury Department having furnished permits to pass the goods. A portion, however, was stopped at New Orleans by General Banks, notwithstanding the permits and orders of the Treasury Department.

New York, May 7.—Col. Hoffman, Commissary General of Prisoners, has made a report to the Secretary of War on the condition of the released Union prisoners who have recently arrived at Annapolis. He describes it as horrible in the extreme. Out of 370, more than 100 are so completely imbecile as to believe they are still at Belle Isle—being utterly oblivious of the fact that they have been removed.

The papers contain a call for a Convention to be held at Cleveland, Ohio, on the 31st of May, for consultation in respect to the Presidential election. The call declares that the one-term principle ought to be invariably maintained, and that the subscribers don't recognize in the Baltimore Convention the precedent conditions of a truly National Convention.

Chicago, May 6.—The sentence of Admiral Wilkes is that he be publicly reprimanded by the Secretary of the Navy.

The Richmond Examiner says a most serious scarcity of provision exists both north and south of the James river, not only in the cities and towns, but through the interior.

The same paper says four army corps have been sent from Chattanooga to reinforce Grant.

In a long leading article the Examiner applauds Forrest's atrocities at Fort Pillow, and says the whole country will applaud his action and so, it is hoped, will the Confederate Government.

The Enquirer, commenting upon the recent speech of Vice President Stephens, says he has disappointed his friends and admirers, only to gratify his enemies, and it is thought the enemies of his country.

Baltimore, May 4.—A deserter from Lee's army, says he has been all through Lee's fortifications, and thinks them impregnable against a front attack. He also says the strength of the rebel army is about eighty thousand. Food and clothing were bad, but they are better than heretofore. The rebel officers seem to be sanguine of success, but the rank and file are disheartened and less hopeful. The rebel cavalry is nearly starved and unable to stand fatigue. Only fear of being captured and shot prevents them from deserting. All want peace on any terms. He says that preparations are going on at Richmond for the removal of the archives further south. Lee's fortifications extend many miles back from his present position on the Rapidan.

Cumberland, Md., May 5.—Guerrillas made a raid on the railroad this morning at Bloomington. They captured three trains and destroyed $200,000 worth of property, belonging to the railroad company.

Washington, May 4.—Gen. Banks, in an official dispatch to the War Department relative to the Red river campaign, admits the surprise and reverse of the 8th of April, but claims that the battle of the 10th resulted in a terrible disaster to the rebels, and was on the whole a victory to our arms, the cost of the rebels in killed and wounded being greater proportionately than they ever before suffered in any battle during the war.

The bill which passed the House yesterday, guaranteeing to the States whose governments have been usurped or overthrown by the rebels, was amended before it passed, in several important particulars. Instead of one-tenth, as originally reported, a majority of the people are required to take part in the election of delegates preliminary to the re-establishment of the State Government. Those who have held office merely ministerial or military, below the grade of Colonel, are not debarred from voting for delegates to State Conventions. The delegates are to be elected by the loyal white male citizens, who are required to subscribe to an oath of allegiance, and until the State shall have reorganized a republican form of State Government, a Provisional Government is to be established. The Governor, who is authorized to be appointed by the President, is to see that the laws of the United States and the laws of the State Government that were overthrown by the rebellion are faithfully executed within the State, but no law or usage whereby any person was heretofore held in involuntary servitude shall be re-organised.

Union Meeting at Belpassi.—A correspondent informs us that Governor Gibbs addressed a large crowd of the patriotic citizens of Marion County, at Belpassi on Friday last. He successfully argued, that the democratic party was responsible for the war, and that the measures adopted by the administration for crushing the rebellion were justifiable and constitutional. He was followed by Professor Henderson and Judge Grim, both of whom spoke well and to the point. Dr. Keil of Aurora was then called upon and made a very effective and eloquent speech, upon constitutional liberty. He called the President the National physician, whose services in the administration of severe medicines, such as saltpetre, sulphur, iron and lead, were made necessary by the corruption and impurity which had affected the body politic. The Dr. was satisfied that the remedy was working well, and insisted that it was the duty of every American citizen to employ his utmost energy in sustaining the Government, while it is endeavoring to save the nation from the curse of southern tyranny and secession. His remarks were received with much applause, and after a vote of thanks to the speakers the meeting separated, well satisfied with the loyal work of the day.

Massacre of Fourteen Men by Indians. The Victoria Chronicle extra of May 11th, contains the following account of the murder of fourteen men at Butte Inlet, Vancouver's Island, by Indians:

The steamer Emily Harris arrived from Nanaimo this morning. She brings three men as passengers who are the sole survivors of Waddington's party of seventeen workmen, the remaining fourteen having been massacred by Chillecooten Indians who had been hired to pack for them. The savages commenced the attack by murdering Smith, the ferryman, and robbed the house. On the same night they started up to the camp where the seventeen men were sleeping and commenced an indiscriminate attack on them with knives, pistols, muskets and axes—slaughtering fourteen out of the seventeen. The wretches, not content with depriving the poor fellows of life, hacked and mutilated the bodies in a most shocking manner. An Indian from Enclataw, who was with the party, and the three surviving whites, managed to escape in the darkness. Two of the whites are wounded and are on board the Emily Harris. The news is of a most dreadful character and its promulgation has raised a feeling of alarm among all the settlers in the outlying districts.

The Enclataw, who escaped, says that he concealed himself in the vicinity of the camp until the next morning, and saw all of the bodies. The heads of some had been hacked off—others were ripped open, and the fiends, in more than one instance, had quartered the bodies of their victims.

The names of the wounded men brought down on the Emily Harris are Peterson and Buckley. The uninjured man is named Mosely. The skulls of Peterson and Buckley are crushed with axes. They have been sent to the Hospital.

We understand that a gunboat will be dispatched to New Westminster to carry the news to Governor Seymour.

An Intelligent Secessionist.—A newspaper correspondent in the East met an intelligent amnesty oath-taker down South the other day, but concluded he was not reliable, for reasons given in the following:

His credulity is somewhat doubtful; for, among other things, he told me that "Confederate money was above par in England; that the Confederacy would bring eight hundred thousand men into the field this Spring; that the people of the North were starting, and were almost ready to give up the contest." Intelligent and well posted as this fellow was on the status of the two belligerent powers, yet he could not read or write, and carried an onion in his pocket "to keep off fever and ague!"

A False Alarm.—The Secretary of the Treasury denies that any of the currency plates have been stolen. All are safe, and no bills will be issued, except by his authority and in accordance with law.

THE GOOD NEWS CONFIRMED.

New York, May 12.—Secretary Stanton telegraphs a dispatch received from Sherman, dated half past seven, evening of the 10th, which states that McPherson had not attacked the enemy at Resaca on Friday, the position being strongly fortified, and had taken a position at Snake Creek Gap. Sherman is in front at Buzzard's Roost Gap, awaiting the arrival of part of his forces.

Chicago, May 12.—Joint resolutions, providing that all Major and Brigadier Generals in the service, who on the 1st of July next shall not be in active duty according to their rank, or who shall not have been engaged on such duty for three months continuously previous to that date shall be dismissed from the rolls, and army pay and allowances to cease from that date, passed the House yesterday by a vote of 72 to 45.

The House concurred in the Senate amendment to the House bill relative to the money order system.

Washington, May 12.—A gentleman in high position with the Government, said to-day that in view of the recent operations of the army Burnside has sent word to his friends that everything looks favorable and hopeful.

The World's special dated headquarters of the Army of the Potomac, near Spottsylvania the 12th, at 8 o'clock, a. m., says our army is this morning engaged in the fiercest battle, and is passing on to victory, sanguinary, but generally successful. Our army yesterday was comparatively quiet. It was intended to assault the enemy's right in force, and a column consisting of a portion of the sixth corps and Barnes' division and Hancock's corps was the first intended to undertake this, but this was afterwards abandoned.

In the forenoon two companies of the sixth corps commenced driving the sharpshooters from their position in a house commanding a partial view of our lines, killing and capturing several of their number. In the afternoon rain fell, continuing till after dark, cooling the atmosphere, and raising the spirits of our troops. Fires were built, and supplies were cooked; bands began playing in the forest along the lines, and they were undisturbed for once by the whizzing of rebel shells, as the enemy had no ammunition to waste. Meanwhile news arrived towards evening that the troops under Gen. Sheridan had penetrated to the vicinity of Beaver Dam, on the Virginia Central Railroad, torn up the track for about 12 miles, captured the rebel supply train, and re-captured 300 of our men that were taken prisoners in the Old Wilderness battle. This news was so inspiriting, that wherever it was made known, there was a general jubilee, and cheer after after cheer succeeded the announcement. During the night, arrangements were made for an attack on our side. This morning the enemy were seen pushing towards our right, and ostensibly, erecting an abattis in front of Hancock's troops. It was shrewdly and rightly suspected that this was only a blind to the real intentions of the enemy, and it was, therefore, anticipated.

After midnight the 2d corps pushed to the left of the 6th, between that and Burnside's command and on the left of Spottsylvania road. At half-past four this morning Hancock attacked the enemy in front of him, our forces opening a withering cannonade and making resistless charges against every part of the enemy's position. The cannonade was replied to with vigor and the charges of our men were vigorously resisted, but the determination of the onset overwhelmed everything. The troops rushed into the rifle-pits of the enemy, bayonetting them in their works, cutting their lines and capturing in the first charge over 3,000 men and several guns, including the greater portion of the Stonewall brigade, belonging to the division commanded by E. D. Johnson forming part of Ewell's corps. Gen. Johnson himself was taken prisoner. The assault continued till nearly the whole division of the corps was captured and other troops amounting to 1,000 men.

Later—11 o'clock.—Dispatches have arrived at this moment announcing the capture of 7,000 prisoners and 80 guns. The battle is still progressing. The 6th corps, on the left of the 2d, has moved into battle and are pushing the enemy. Warren's 5th corps has moved up to its support on the right. The battle is becoming general and nearly all the artillery is engaged. The clamor of guns, whistle of grape and solid shot and the roar of musketry and the enemy's shells fill the forest with an awful tumult.

Later—12 o'clock.

It is just now reported that Hancock has turned the right flank of the enemy, below Spottsylvania Court House, and is pushing on—the battle is everywhere overwhelmingly in our favor.

Firing has just commenced on the left near Grant's Headquarters. The battle is going on with terrible energy. Our success is said to be certain. Prisoners are constantly coming in.

The following is a dispatch sent by Hancock this morning:

Near Spottsylvania Court House, May 12.—8.15 a. m.—I have captured 30 to 40 guns. I have finished up Johnson and am now firing into Early. The guns captured have arrived at Headquarters.

(Signed,) W. S. HANCOCK.

Brigadier General Stewart, commanding a Brigade in Johnson's Division, was captured.

Burnside's command is reported to have moved down on the road towards Fredericksburg, going in on the enemy's rear.

Gen. Warren's 5th corps, on the right wing, is now sending out heavy lines of skirmishers to feel the enemy's works in front, which are supposed to be abandoned.

It is impossible to ascertain all the particulars at this writing but our victory is considered as going on to a decisive result. We are pressing the enemy everywhere.

Gen. Wright is slightly wounded but is still in command of the 6th corps.

The Tribune's special, dated Washington May 12, says our army is now heard from six miles beyond Spottsylvania Court House.

We fought again on Wednesday, and drove the enemy most gallantly, capturing a large number of prisoners and guns. Several Generals and other officers were among the prisoners.

The Herald's special dispatch, dated Headquarters 5th Corps, in Field, 12th—7 a. m., says: Hancock made a brilliant capture at 4 o'clock this morning, of an entire rebel division, including Major General E. D. Johnson, Commanding; Brigadier Gen. Geo. Stewart; Brigadier Gen. Robert Johnson, commanding Brigade, and between two and three thousand prisoners, and two batteries of six pieces each.

Taking the advantage of the darkness last evening Hancock managed to change the position of his troops unobserved by the enemy, and while darkness still prevailed pounced upon him [the enemy] this morning, like a thousand of brick, and took them completely by surprise. Having sent his prisoners to the rear, he turned their own guns upon the enemy.

The World's Washington dispatch of the 12th says: The army of the Potomac opened its seventh day's battle this morning, with brilliant success. Advices to-night from the front state that Hancock's corps on the center, just west of Spottsylvania Court House, moved at an early hour on A. P. Hill's command, and after a severe skirmish drove Hill's division, and part of Wilcox's, capturing 2,000 prisoners, one Major General, two Brigadier Generals, and fifty field officers. At 9 o'clock a. m. no other fighting had occurred.

The Herald's special, dated City Point, the 11th, says that from the latest accounts received from the front last night, it is known that Butler's forces are within three miles of Petersburg, and have passed over the lines of the rebel defenses. This is important, as it more closely corrals Beauregard's forces within the city.

Cincinnati, May 13.—There is great activity at Camp Dennison, preparing the National Guard for the field. Six regiments left on Wednesday for the East and two other regiments left to-day. These troops are thoroughly armed and equipped.

Note.—The operator at Salt Lake says he has a long report corroborating all the above, and adding new achievements of our army.

San Francisco, May 14.—In consequence of prevalent storms along the line to-day but little Eastern intelligence came through.

The Chamber of Commerce held a meeting to-day and drafted a memorial to Congress against the taxation of the mines.

San Francisco, May 15.—The Union Republicans have so far nominated no municipal ticket, and are not likely to do so. The Democrats last evening put a full ticket in nomination.

The bark Onward from Honolulu brings intelligence of negotiations pending for the annexation of the Island to the United States.

Yreka, May 15.—It has been raining hard here all day.

Jackson Co. Democratic Convention.

Jacksonville, May 14.—The Jackson county Democratic Convention met to-day. The following nominations were made: Representatives, James D. Fay, Wm. T. Sanger; Thos. Dolli; Treasurer, David Linn; County Commissioners, Fred. Heber and Nichols; Assessor, Thos. B. Beamer; Coroner, Jno. McLaughlin; Prosecuting Attorney, W. G. T'Vault. No nominations were made for County Clerk, Sheriff or Surveyor.

The Smith Family as Commanding Generals. A misinformed cotemporary violently abuses General W. F. Smith, recently confirmed as Major-General, in the regular army, because, as it says, he failed in the recent cavalry expedition in Mississippi. The commander of that expedition was Brigadier-General W. S. Smith. There are five or more General Smiths in the army. Major-General W. F. Smith, now acting on General Grant's staff; Brigadier-General W. Sooy Smith, mentioned above; Brigadier-General Giles A. Smith, who commanded a division in Sherman's 15th Corps, and was wounded at Missionary Ridge; Brigadier-General A. J. Smith, commanding a division in the 17th Corps, and in charge of the successful expedition up Red River; Brigadier-General M. L. Smith, who commanded a brigade of infantry somewhere out West; and Major-General Charles F. Smith, who was second in command to General Grant, at Fort Donelson.—N. Y. Times.

Mr. R. Hockaday stated that he was induced to try Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs from the recommendation of others. He gave it to a child eleven months old, also used it in his family generally for coughs and colds, and in every instance found immediate relief, and that he would not be without it. Mr. J. B. Miller states that he used Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs with great benefit to himself; he was entirely relieved of a severe cough. His neighbor was bleeding at the Lungs, to whom he administered a part of one bottle and it entirely cured him. Mr. John Davis was cured of a severe cough, and also gave it to his infant child for the whooping cough, and says it is the medicine of medicines. Mr. James N. Harden of Rock Castle wished it proclaimed everywhere that his daughter, aged sixteen years, was severely afflicted with cough and bleeding at the Lungs for seven months. She was cured sound and well by using part of one bottle of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. Mr. Wm. Harden testifies that his wife was greatly afflicted with cough, and suffering much with pain in her breast and side; also her little daughter, aged two years, had so greatly suffered with phthisic that her life was despaired of. Both mother and daughter found immediate relief in using Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. These are a few of the many testimonials I have received in favor of your great Lung Remedy, and if you desire, I can send many more which have come to my knowledge. Respectfully yours, J. D. SMITH, Richmond, Ky., July 15, 1856. Sold by REDINGTON & CO. 416 and 418 Front street, San Francisco, who are also agents for the Pacific Coast for the sale of Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup, and we would direct the attention of those who suffer from scrofula, eruptions, or any other impurity of the blood, to Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup, as it will cleanse the blood and permanently eradicate from the system the cause of the disease, thereby restoring health and vivacity to the system. Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup is compounded upon scientific principles, and with great care. We do not pretend it is a cure all, nor that in all cases, and under all circumstances, it is absolutely infallible. Common sense teaches us that the day of Miracles has passed, but science and facts remain, and on the strength of these we call attention to Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup. The noble science of medicine is controlled by the same powers which govern the entire world. Were the invalid patients simply to take this medicine for short time, in cases of goitre, syphilitic or scrofulous tumors, ulceration of the bones, etc., and then drop it, they would receive from it but very little good, for unless persevered in the money expended for it is comparatively thrown away, nobody is benefited, the disease remains uncured, and the reputation of the medicine is injured. The action of Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup is through the secretion of the absorbent vessels, which consists in receiving or taking up certain substances known as virus or poisonous principles, and removing them from the diseased parts through the secretions and exhalents, until they are carried from the system; at the same time good blood is transported through the vessels to the diseased parts of the body. Treasure.—The Messenger of Wells, Fa[illegible] & Co.'s Express from the Dalles, on Satur[illegible] evening brought a light amount of treasu[illegible] the principal sum of which was from [illegible] Canyon City mines.

Saw Mill Machinery.—The machin[illegible] for a saw mill in Boise was lying on the wh[illegible] yesterday, awaiting shipment to Idaho Cit[illegible] by the boats of the Oregon Steam Navigat[illegible] Company. The castings and finishing of th[illegible] lot of machinery was done in Portland, at th[illegible] Oregon Iron Works.

Off at Last.—A bark mill and two cas[illegible] of merchandise, have been lying at Couch's wharf for many months past, marked to J. A. Alderman, Tillamook. No conveyance f[illegible] the articles has been offered during that tim[illegible] until Saturday last they were shipped by th[illegible] schooner Ellen. We hope this reliable litt[illegible] craft will find plenty to do, as a packet t[illegible] Tillamook, and we are sure she will be [illegible] great accommodation to the citizens of th[illegible] place.

Steaming a Horse.—As the engineer [illegible] the steamer Senator was about to blow off th[illegible] steam preparatory to finishing up his day['s] work on Saturday, when the boat had return[illegible] from Oregon City, it so happened that a dray man was unlo[illegible] freight where his hors[illegible] was standing immediately in front of th[illegible] blow pipe. The engineer did not know th[illegible] and when the steam was let out it completel[illegible] enveloped the animal, which was also terribl[illegible] frightened at the noise, but it stood the pro[illegible] cess like a major, for several moments befor[illegible] the real situation was known inside.

For Harrisburg and Peoria.—The steamer Relief will leave Canemah for the above ports on the W[illegible] to-morrow morning. Freight and [illegible] trip should take the stea[illegible] this afternoon.

Arrival [illegible] Steamer Express.—The accommoda[illegible] the steamer Express has furnished [illegible] satiric memoranda of [illegible] opposition steamboat:

Steamer Express, [illegible] Master, left [illegible] for Pum[illegible] Crossed [illegible] Return trip—Left [illegible] passed [illegible] Portland [illegible] of passengers, [illegible] heavy load [illegible] peas, oats, &c [illegible] one hour and 45 minut[illegible] SPEAR, Purser.

Police Business.—The Police business for the past few days [illegible] rather dull in this city. Only two cases appear on the records of the Recorder's C[illegible] Saturday last; one of these was for [illegible] but the defendant forfeited his bonds and retired to the country, before trial. The other was an action brought against one of our citizens for keeping swine in the rear of his premises, in a central part of the business circles, for which he paid a fine, and is to remove the unctuous quadrupeds, a delight to the olfactory nerves of his neighbors.

No Cause for Alarm.—Citizens in the upper part of the city noticed a strange craft floating down the river yesterday, and thinking so intently about the late news, perhaps led to the imagination that it was a gun boat. But its appearance was more like a rebel gun boat, just as it would appear now, in Jeff's dominions; than one of Uncle Sam's thorough-bred monitors, and all eyes were intent on watching it, expecting every moment when it would "go off." But as it neared the city all apprehension was dispelled upon finding out that it was a flat boat, with sails reefed, in a calm, having in tow a scow load of wood.

Thanks.—We are indebted to W. H. Bennett, Esq., for a package of late Victoria and Sound papers; they contain, however, very few items which would interest our readers.

Territory of Montana.—Hon. Joseph C. McKibben, formerly a member of Congress from California, has been appointed Governor of the Territory called Montana, lately created by Congress, composed of the eastern part of Idaho and the western part of Dacotah.

Union Meeting at Amity.—Hon. George H. Williams and Judge Boise will address the citizens of Amity, Yamhill County, on the political questions of the day, on Saturday next, the 21st inst. An invitation is extended to all, by the citizens of Amity.

Election Tickets.—We are prepared to furnish election tickets at the following rates: For five hundred or less, $5; one thousand, $3; each additional thousand, $5. Orders will be promptly filled and forwarded.

Drew's Landing—The steamer Cowlitz, Capt. Olson, ascended the Cowlitz river for some distance above Pumphrey's, to a point known as Drew's Landing, on the last trip Parties who have passed over the route say it is rather a "pokerish" place for a steamer, among so many snags

For the Oregonian.

Campaign Song.

Say, are you for the Union,
And for the men who fight,
On deadly fields of battle,
For Union, Truth and Right:

Or are you for Secession,
Linked with the traitor band,
And doing what a dastard can
To split our Father-land?

Are you the friend of Slavery,
That has strewn the land with slain?
Would you give them Northern iron
To mend their broken chain?

Or are you not for Freedom,
Wide as the race and world?
Shall not its flaming banner
Be kept for aye unfurled?

For shame. If you're a traitor,
And for the traitor's cause,
Against the Constitution,
Against your country's laws.

Say, don't you feel like Arnold,
And don't the blush of shame,
Rise on your copper countenance,
When you hear the traitor's name?

Here's bully for the Union!
And for the Army too,
And down with the Seceders,
Jeff. Davis and his crew!

Up! up! the Starry Banner,
The standard of the Free,
The cause of God as well as man,
UNION AND LIBERTY!

Oregon City, May 8, 1864.

Trouble in Camp.

BY THE ADJUTANT.

(Concluded.)

The festivities of the occasion were inaugurated and everything went considerably merrier than a "marriage bell." A few games of cards were played. We are not exactly certain just now what particular games they were, but feel confident that "Old Maid" was not one of them. Objections were made, however, by non-combatants, on the score of monopoly, and cards were soon ignored. The feast of reason followed, and about ten o'clock the Major, yielding to the flow of soul and the persuasions of his friends, charmed the company with his favorite song. Shortly afterward—we never knew positively how it came about as we didn't care particularly just then "whether school kept or not"—we beheld the gallant Quartermaster prostrate upon the Major's bed, and that distinguished individual standing over him in a highly tragical attitude, spouting something very deep and vast from William S., of which we only caught the concluding sentence:

"Down, down, to hell, and tell them I sent thee thither!" accompanying the climax with a shake that brought Kep and the wonderful bed down together with a crash. Recovering himself immediately, Kep rushed to the corner, drew the Major's sabre, brandished it aloft, threw out his right leg and exclaimed in a terrific voice:

"Avaunt! and quit my sight! let the earth hide thee!
Thy bones are marrowless, thy blood is cold;
Thou hast no speculation in those eyes
Which thou dost glare with.
Hence, horrible shadow! Unreal mockery, hence!"

During this heavy performance Kep advanced his right and left leg alternately after the happy manner of "The Eminent Tragedian," and gave his cuts and thrusts with such energy and grace that the tent was cleared with a celerity rarely witnessed in bodies of such density.

Elated with his prowess and determined to take full advantage of the little brief authority in which circumstance had dressed him, the gallant Kep made a sortie and succeeded after a brisk and bloodless skirmish in driving the enemy to the woods, where he kept them at bay for a full hour, occasionally withdrawing to the tent to make an onslaught upon the empty bottles with which the table was covered. That part of the programme was conducted something after this manner:

"Oh! thou invisible spirit of wine [whack]! If thou hadst no name to be known by [sip], let us call thee devil [bang]."

He varied this by marching up and down in front of the tent apostrophising Ophelia, and anon flinging defiance into the teeth of Henry of Richmond.

On detecting any movement on the part of the foe, he dashed off like a dart, slashing away in the dark with a recklessness which kept the enemy at a respectful distance. This was all very funny for Kep, but the others soon concluded that it would not suit them for a steady thing. The night was bitter cold, and after many ineffectual attempts to appease the redoubtable defender of his castle, the party dispersed to their several quarters, leaving Kep and the Major alone in their glory. Kep was enjoying the joke as only the man can who has all the laugh on his own side, while the poor Major was cudgelling his brains in devising schemes to regain an entrance to his "local habitation."

The cold night air and the excitement had brought him to a realizing sense of his situation, and he was anxious to get out of his little difficulty without committing any breach of the peace or of discipline which might afterward become the subject of official investigation.

He would come down from the woods occasionally and open with "I say, Kep, this thing—" "Away! I know thee not, foul fiend of France, and hag of all despite,—encompassed with thy lustful paramours—base muleteers of France—have at thee, boy!" followed up by a lunge and a rush in the direction of the Major, who would turn tail, and after a few tumbles in the wiry brush he would succeed in regaining his hiding-place, without material damage. He had just returned from an unsuccessful reconnoissance to the front, and was leaning pensively against a sapling, silently lamenting his sad fate when he suddenly beheld in the dim distance the faint glimmer of a light which sent a thrill of joy to his soul such as an astronomer may possibly feel when the disc of a new planet crosses his startled vision. The master strokes of genius are said to be the conceptions of a moment, and so the solitary gleam that struck the Major's retina developed in his oppressed brain a plan which bore upon its face the unmistakeable imprint of genius—success. That light proceeded from a watch-fire belonging to a detail of men from a New York regiment, who were guarding the railroad at that point. The squad consisted of a sergeant and about a dozen men, half of whom were lounging about the fire when the Major approached them.

"Where is the sergeant of the guard?" he inquired.

"Here, Sir; what is wanted?"

"Take two men and follow me."

The Major and his escort proceeded quietly down to the quarters from which he had been so ignominiously expelled and carefully drawing aside the door-flap, he took a survey of the inside. Kep was stretched comfortably on the outside of the bed-clothes with his eyes half closed, and the sabre in his right hand.

At the first glimpse of the Major, he sprang from his couch, struck a position, shrieked out "Slave!" and was about making a lunge when he was confronted by the bayonets of the sergeant and his men. "Sergeant," said the Major in an authoritative tone, "I place this officer under arrest, charged with offering me personal violence; take him along to the guard house; I will send written charges in the morning."

The change that came over the countenance of the doughty Kep during this recital was considerably darker than a summer cloud. The monarch of all he surveyed came down from his lofty perch as if he had been struck by lightning.

"Oh, here, now, Major," he muttered, "you're too hard on a fellow; did'nt think you would get mad; you know I was only joking."

"Oh! you were only joking, were you? You call it a joke to drive your superior officer out of his own quarters! To chase him about the country with a drawn sword in defiance of all law and discipline! You call this a joke, Sir! I have known people with older heads than you to be shot in their tracks for just such a trifle as this of yours. Put on your coat and be off, Sir." "Sergeant," he continued with a grand air, "do your duty."

Poor Kep threw on his coat, cast one appealing glance at the imperturbable countenance of the Major, and slowly followed the guard.

The Major searched awhile amongst the debris of the table, found what he wanted, took a drink, drew a stool up to the stove, sat in it, placed his elbows on his knees, folded his knuckles on his chin, and grinned. When he was tired grinning, he rose up, took another drink, put out the light and went to bed, where he couldn't help grinning at the thought of the gay quartermaster ruminating over the chances of war in the brush-heap called a guard house.

"Served him right," he said to himself. "I'll let him off in the morning, though, and we'll call it square!" With which charitable remark, he turned over and slept like a victorious warrior as he was.

The first act of the Major's, on the following morning, was to dispatch an orderly to the sergeant of the guard with a written order for the release of Captain Kepper.

The orderly returned, accompanied by the sergeant.

"Well," said the Major, "what now?"

"About Captain Kepper, sir," replied the sergeant. "You know, sir, that it rained very hard this morning, and as there was no roof worth mentioning on the guard-house, I sent him up to headquarters."

"Whose headquarters?"

"My captain's, sir."

"How far from here?"

"About two miles."

"You don't mean to say that you walked him two miles in the rain last night?" said the Major, with a grin.

"Had to do it, sir; there wasn't a dry spot in the guard-house."

"Very well, sergeant, I am perfectly satisfied. You have more than fulfilled my expectations. Now, I wish you would send one of your men up to your captain's quarters with my order, and have Captain Kepper released at once. Will you see it done?"

"Certainly, sir; but if they have sent Captain Kepper on, what shall I do?"

"Sent him on where?"

"To Hooker's headquarters."

"What the devil do you mean?" cried the Major turning very white.

"Why, you know," said the sergeant, "when written charges are preferred against a prisoner, it is a case for court-martial, and we always send them up to Hooker, commanding the Grand Division; and as I told my captain that you intended preferring charges against Captain Kepper, they have probably sent him up there, or will do so this morning."

During this explanation, the Major's face turned livid to the very tip of his nose.

"Great God! Sergeant," he exclaimed, "I'm a ruined man. What an ass I have been! Court martial! Court martial! Great heaven, what a subject for a court martial! Sergeant, do you wish to save my life? Look here, then; take this order and go yourself, immediately, and don't stop until you see Kepper and have him released. Take my horse and don't spare the spur. Tell them it is all a mistake; the wrong man; anything at all so you bring back Kepper."

The Major assured me afterward, that the hour succeeding the Sergeant's departure was the longest and most miserable sixty minutes he had ever passed. He believed that if Kep was taken before General Hooker, he would confess everything and have them both dismissed in disgrace, or at least severely reprimanded. Whilst nervously pacing in front of his quarters, keeping his eyes in the direction of hope, imagine his horror on beholding General C—— and staff leisurely coming down the road, followed by the brigade. They had recrossed the Rappahannock, and were returning to the old camping ground.

Of course, the first inquiry the General would make, would be after his quartermaster, and the Major's heart went down into his very boots when he thought of the answer he would be forced to give.

He cast his eyes up the railroad to take a last, long, lingering look, before plunging into despair. He saw nothing to satisfy his eager gaze save a solitary figure in the dim distance; but, alas! it bore no resemblance to the gallant form of the missing Captain. However, the Major's eyes were rivetted to the approaching shape, as it drew nearer he discerned that whoever it might be, his pantaloons were rolled up, his hat out of shape, and his boots very muddy, and at length a piercing look, which strained his very eyeballs, revealed to him the rueful countenance of the crest-fallen Kep.

The joy of the Major knew no bounds. He hurried out to meet him, and shook his hand as if he had been a long-lost brother. Poor Kep couldn't understand it until he saw the brigade filing down into quarters.

"I say, Major," he exclaimed, with an injured air, "that was a deuced ugly trick you served me."

"Perhaps it was; but you chased me, you know; let us call it square. Won't you take something?"

"Of course."

"Remember, 'mum's' the word, old boy."

"Mum it is," said Kep. "Here's to us."

But "mum" was not the word. The joke was too good to be kept muzzled, and before a week it was all over camp how the Major was kept out in the cold, and the Quartermaster sent out in the rain.

PERUVIAN SYRUP,
OR PROTECTED
Solution of Protoxide of Iron,
Has been used with Great Success in Curing
DYSPEPSIA,
Affections of the Liver, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Bronchitis and Consumptive Tendencies, Disordered State of the Blood, Female Complaints, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Scurvy, the prostrating effects of Lead or Mercury, GENERAL DEBILITY,
and all Diseases which require a
Tonic and Alterative Medicine.

THE PROOFS OF ITS EFFICACY are so numerous, so well authenticated, and of such peculiar character, that sufferers cannot reasonably hesitate to receive the proffered aid.

The class of diseases for which the Syrup provides a cure, is precisely that which has so often baffled the highest order of medical skill! The facts are tangible, the witnesses accessible, and the safety and efficacy of the Syrup incontrovertible.

From well-known Citizens of Boston.

The undersigned having experienced the beneficial effects of the "Peruvian Syrup," do not hesitate to recommend it to the attention of the public.

Rev. JOHN PIERPONT, THOMAS C. AMORY,
THOMAS A. DEXTER, PETER HARVEY,
S. H. KENDALL, M D, JAMES C. DUNN,
SAMUEL MAY, Rev. THOS. WHITTEMORE.

Certificate of Dr. Hayes.

It is well known that the medicinal effects of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air, and that to maintain a solution of Protoxide of Iron, without further oxidation, has been deemed impossible.

In the Peruvian Syrup, this desirable point is attained by COMBINATION IN A WAY BEFORE UNKNOWN, and this solution may replace all the proto carbonates, citrates and tartrates of the Materia Medica. A. A. HAYES, M D, IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DIScovery of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to over-estimate its influence as a remedial agent. Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. It is to act upon the

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM, and to have great control over
SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation, it remained almost useless until Dr Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment, discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve without a solvent. This, considered impossible by the scientific world, is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr. J. R. Chilton of this city, and Prof. Booth, U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals, and its use recommended to practitioners (see "American Medical Monthly," July 6, 1856, page 76.)

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER,

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc.

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color; hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and florid.

Full directions accompany each bottle.

Sold by all Druggists. Price, $1 per bottle. Prepared by Dr H. Anders & Co, Physicians and Chemists, New York.

HOSTETTER'S
STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE REMEDY upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, stimulates and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System.

Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutricious blood, and nutritious blood a healthy frame. Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and excretions, giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve, muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.

The best means of imparting vigor to the broken down frame and shattered constitution, which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Debility, from whatever cause arising, may be cured; strength, in whatever manner it may have been wasted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthy invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A word to the Aged.

In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters,

As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite, and acts like a charm upon the spirits.

For Females.

Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility, and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and enlightens the depressed mental powers, as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any reaction.
